SUNNYSIDE

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST CHURCH

October 31 Communiqué

Hello Sunnysiders,

Long time no see! It's nice to be writing to you again as I settle back in after my sabbatical.

My time away was filled with memorable moments: finishing a 16-hour hike in the Enchantments near Leavenworth, WA, and lying on a boulder gazing up at the Milky Way; driving steep, winding mountain passes in the Dolomites as the limestone glowed crimson atdusk; eating the best croissant of my life (…even better than those in France!) in a rural Norwegian town; and officiating my Australian friend's wedding in a 16th-century castle in the Swiss countryside as she married the love of her life.

Yet beyond the adventures, the best part was getting to share them with my sister. Living on opposite sides of the world makes time together rare, so having time to enjoy both extraordinary highlights, and the ordinary moments was a gift. It reminded me of how precious our time with loved ones really is.

As our calendars quickly fill up this season, it can be easy to get so busy building a life that we forget to be present for the people who make it worth living. Scripture reminds us that God created us to be relational – made for connection with Him and with one another.

Let's be intentional about how we spend our time. Make room for your people. Put down your phone, listen deeply, share the laughter, and cherish the ordinary moments we so easily take for granted. May Sunnyside remain a community where we show up for each other, love deeply, and reflect God's love to the world around us.

Pastor Rose Andryklanus
